City Gets Direct Air Link May 1
Toronto-to-Coast Planes to Travel Via Edmonton

Edmonton will be linked directly with Vancouver and Toronto by Trans-Canada Air Lines North Stars May 1, it was announced officially here today.

Planes will leave Edmonton at 5:30 a.m. daily, arriving in Vancouver 7:30 p.m. PST. East bound planes will leave Vancouver for Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Toronto.

3 1/2 HOURS TO COAST

J. S. Grahame, District Traffic and Sales Manager for Trans-Canada Air Lines in Edmonton said today the new service will be the third flight to operate across Canada, and will bring Vancouver to within 3 1/2 hours of Edmonton.

Mr. Grahame said the survey is now being conducted by the Department of Transport which, it is hoped, will result in shortening the airway between Edmonton and Vancouver.

"If this can be done," he said, "it will be possible to offer an even faster service to the west coast at some future date."

DEPENDS ON RESULTS

Every effort will be made to develop traffic in the new service but future developments of the route will depend on the results produced," Grahame said. "Should traffic on our three transcontinental services fail to come up to expectations, certain amendments to schedules will be necessary, and to be made."

He said that results would be watched closely and expressed the hope they would justify the present optimism outlook for business.

Spring Air Is on Way

Warmer weather is on the way to Edmonton and district during the next few days, according to word from the weatherman.

His temperature today will be about five degrees lower than yesterday, but an extensive winter centre is moving into the Gulf of Alaska this morning and will bring high temperatures here tomorrow and Wednesday.

Winds will be south at 15 miles per hour tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon, the wind will climb to 40 mph. Estimated low here tonight is 24 and high 34.

Yesterday, the mercury remained high all day, reaching a maximum of 44 above, but the warmth was marred by showers of snow and sleet throughout the day. Total precipitation amounted to .30 inches.

In the southern parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan, from two to three inches of snow blanketed the ground.

Temperatures throughout the province were generally about 40 above yesterday, however.

7 Americans Rescued From Plane in Arctic

Seven USAF airmen are resting at Goose Bay, Labrador, today following their rescue yesterday from a small island on which their aircraft crashed Thursday night.

The crew, who crashed on Ellsworth Island, for instance, were rescued by a C-54 transport which was carrying the 680 miles northeast of the main point of rescue, and by an American ski-plane.

4 Navy Fliers Die in Crash

HALIFAX, March 28.—(CP)—Four navy airmen were killed today when their plane was involved in a mid-air collision over Halifax harbor.

Three of the four dead are Lt. Cmdr. R. A. McKee of Dartmouth, N.S.; Lt. George H. Hutton of Harlow, N.S.; and air mechanic J. H. Campbell of Cap de Madeleine, Que.

The cause of the collision is being investigated pending notification of the crash.

There was no immediate trace of the plane or airmen and from the roof of the Canadian Press office in Halifax, a small, dark, single-engine plane was seen soaring the air between Georges Bank and McNab Head, according to witnesses or bodies.

DZEN PLANES IN HUNT

Search for the airmen was started shortly before midnight Thursday, by radio contact with the C-54 transport which was carrying them. That contact was cut off, but it was not until Saturday 26 hours after the crash that it was seen from the air by a B-24 bomber crew taking part in the search.

First word of the rescue reached the West Coast from the B-24 for Edmonton, coordinating the search from the air.

Canadian planes joined in the search, under direction of the Air Commandant, and the B-24, which was seen near the wreckage, was seen to be in the air.

Centre Parties Win French Vote

De Gaulle and Communists Lose to Government Groups

By Joseph W. Grigg

PARIS, March 28.—(BUP)—The combined government middle-of-the-road parties beat both Charles de Gaulle's French People's Rally and the Communists by a big margin in yesterday's run-off French county council elections, nearly complete returns showed today.

But the De Gaulle RPF nevertheless emerged the strongest single party in France. It was nearly three times as many seats as it held in the cold councils. The Communists finished a poor third, losing four-fifths of their seats in the old councils.

The vote was interpreted as an endorsement of the government's strong anti-Communist policy and its adherence to the Atlantic Treaty.

With results in for 743 of the 785 seats in yesterday's elections, the coalition government parties won 586, the Gaullists 184 and the Communists only 115. Independent candidates of varying political shades won 164 other seats.

The Ministry of Interior will announce the popular vote later today.

The elections were held to fill seats in which no candidate received a clear majority in elections the previous Sunday. A single majority decided the results yesterday.

Adding yesterday's results to those of the previous Sunday, the government bloc parties will hold 699 of the 785 seats, the Gaullists 289 and the Communists only 217. The government bloc will hold 699 seats in the old councils, the Communists 284 and the De Gaulle 217.

The government parties are the Socialists, the Radicals, the Democrats and Socialists, the Alliance Rally, the Left Republican Rally and Popular Republican.

The government victory added to the prestige of Premier Henri Queuille's right-of-centre coalition and seemed to assure the stability of the "mixed force" regime for some time to come.

Dr. A. P. W. Smith, English department head at University of Toronto, has been appointed to the faculty of Harvard University school. He will lecture on studies in Victorian thought.

Reds Hinted In Navy Rows

What appeared to be a hint of the forthcoming inquiry was dropped by Vice-Admiral H. W. Grant, chief of the naval staff, in a report last night from "Tabouret" where he is inspecting reserve divisions.

He expressed concern over the number of such incidents, though the navy was going "hard" and promised a full investigation of cause.

Both officers and ratings showed the three vessels, it was understood, involved in the inquiry. The ships have crews totalling more than 1,000.

COUNTER-INTELLIGENCE BUST

At the same time it was also understood counter-intelligence officers at naval headquarters have started a check of their own into the possibility that Communists or other subversive elements may have slipped by screening nets and gained entry into naval establishments.

Naval headquarters would make no comment on this point.

Counter-intelligence officers launched their investigation, it was believed, when the first of the three disturbances was reported about the Albatross Feb. 26.

Although it was first reported that only about 30 "green" or junior ratings were involved, it appeared likely that about 50 took part.

Second of the disturbances broke out early in March about the Crescent while on duty in the Far East.

The third was reported aboard the Magnificent March 25, while the current was in company with the Albatross and a Canadian naval task force participating in manoeuvres in the Caribbean.

Miners Head Back To Pits

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—(BUP)—John L. Lewis United Mine Workers returned to the pits today, ending a two-week national shut-down that had closed all mines east of the Mississippi river.

But operators and miners alike feared a "war of nerves" for the next 90 days when the union opens its fight for concessions from the industry.

One miner at Harwick, Pa., spoke for many when he stated that his safety belt and hard hat were not to get in every day I can, because they were to be back out again.

The mine industry was viewed as the opening salvo in the U.M.W.'s 1965 contract battle. Lewis himself warned the miners in his nation-wide tour of the mines that they would have to fight again during this year of 1965.

ALEXANDER AND BOY SCOUT

2 Gallant Gentlemen Meet at Investiture

lency, the crippled Scout might have missed the investiture at the last moment after days of happy anticipation.

Originally the ceremony was planned for Government House. As the time drew near, the Solarium authorities were forced reluctantly to declare that Herby was too ill to take the 30-mile trip into the city.

This was the point where the Governor General stepped in and pointed out an alternative course. If Herby could come to Victoria for his investiture the Governor General would make time for the trip to Mill Bay.

That's the major part of the story behind the meeting of two gallant gentlemen. The rest of the tale was in the rap look on the face of Herby and his mother, Mrs. L. Sam.

It had been for His Excellency, the crippled Scout might have missed the investiture at the last moment after days of happy anticipation.

West Union Leaders Denounce World Body

LONDON, March 28.—(BUP)—Four top trade union leaders from western nations charged today that the Kremlin and Communist information bureau controlled the world federation of trade unions and urged all member unions to break from the WFTU.

In a 5,000-word pamphlet tracing the history of the WFTU from its creation in 1945 to the weekend last January by American, British and Dutch delegates from an executive bureau meeting in Paris, the western leaders said:

"There is no longer a world federation. The oldest and most experienced trade union movements will be outside."

The pamphlet was signed by James Carey, secretary-treasurer of the American Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO); Arthur Deakin, chief of the British Transport Workers Union and former WFTU president; Vincent Tewson, secretary-general of the powerful Trades Union Congress (TUC); and Evert Ruys, head of the Dutch Federation of Trade Unions (FNV).

The pamphlet urged WFTU members to "consider their position" in an organization whose "conceptions are determined by political ideology."

It said that "despite recent events inside the WFTU there is still no intention of using the European Recovery Program trade union machinery as a rival international trade union body."

St. Laurent Adds To Voting Rumors

'This Year or Next' He Declares at Oshawa Rally

OSHAWA, March 28.—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent paid lightning week-end siege to industrial Oshawa Saturday and described himself as one of the common people who wishes to legislate for the aspirations of all.

He descended on this site of 20,000 at noon, paraded behind two bands through streets lined with thousands of people and pitched into a 15-hour session, part civic reception, the plotting of a wreath on the local cenotaph and a visit to a Federal housing project at nearby Ajax.

2,000 IN AUDIENCE

Adding to the political war of nerves Mr. St. Laurent told a night audience of 2,000 with a twinkle in his eye "Nobody knows whether the election will be this year or next."

But he had Senator J. Gordon Page, head of the National Liberal Federation, with him and the prime minister frankly told the annual convention of the Central Ontario Liberal Association that he would like to see this section better represented in the new government he hopes to form after the election. The district largely went Progressive Conservative in 1945.

Iran Protests Soviet Attack

TEHRAN, March 28.—(BUP)—Iran announced today it has protested to the Soviet embassy against an unprovoked Soviet attack on an Iranian frontier post in which one Iranian was killed and two taken prisoner.

A government spokesman said the Russians refused to release the two prisoners unless Iran agreed to take the blame for the incident. The Iranian army has refused to take the blame, the spokesman said.

The note sent by the Iranian foreign ministry to the Soviet embassy said 30 Soviet soldiers attacked the Iranian frontier post of Natliq in Gurgan province at the southeast corner of the Caspian sea adjoining the Turkmen Soviet Socialist Republic on March 22.

The incident followed increased Soviet propaganda attacks on the Iranian government.

B.C. Debate Rages On Two Classics

Oliver Twist and Merchant Of Venice Suitability Topic

VANCOUVER, March 28.—(CP)—Nathan Nemets head of the B'Nai B'rith lodge here, said yesterday Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice and Dickens' Oliver Twist are "not suitable for public school instruction."

Nemets was commenting on a New York report that suit would be brought against the board of education there if officials refused to eliminate teaching of the two classics. Former city magistrate Joseph Goldstein had charged the novel and the play are anti-Semitic and cause "irreparable damage" to school children.

CARICATURE CLAIMED

Mr. Nemets said the works back "Christianity a minority group" and "the prejudices this endangered overshadows by far the literary value of these books to the young and impressionable mind."

"Unfortunately discrimination against minorities plays so great a part in our modern society that classical purists have no right to make the lives of minorities even more difficult."

But two University of British Columbia English professors thought differently.

Dr. G. G. Seligson, in reference to the New York report, said: "My opinion they don't know how to read literature. They make it for their propaganda."

OTHER WORKS CITED

In Earl Browder's well-known Canadian autobiography, noted that Sheridan's School for Scandal contained an unflattering portrait of a Jew, and that other classics put certain races and minorities in an unfavorable light.

"But if you're going to start banning books for this reason," he said, "you could ban most of the English literature of the middle ages as being anti-Protestant and most of the English literature since then as being anti-Catholic."

H. N. MacCormick, superintendent of city schools, said both the controversial works are taught here, and that no one had protested.

Seven DP Artists Plan Concert to Thank Canada

WINNIPEG, March 28.—(CP)—Seven former European artists, one unemployed, the others working at such jobs as orderlies and domestics, tonight will return to their first love—the stage.

Many of them "big names" in concert size in Kharkov, Munich and Berlin in the years preceding were cut short by the war when they played unscheduled roles in farces from their Nazi and Communist persecutors.

These speakers, 40-year-old A. S. Lubliner—the name is pronounced loo-lee-der—was a noted singer, pianist and actor. He played in Ukrainian translations of Shakespeare, Balzac and the works of other great writers, as well as in film.

WALKS STREETS

and he says tonight is supposed to be his stage debut in search of work. He says he expects that when he played previously he was breaking concert careers in order to exist.

Investigation showed few Europeans were anxious to appear on the stage again, and once they had completed their unscheduled contracts with the government as farm laborers, they decided to make plans for a concert. However, unable to converse freely in English and with few friends, they made little headway.

YMCA OFFERS AID

The local YMCA, hearing of their plight, agreed to underwrite the concert and to distribute the proceeds to the artists up to $100. One of the artists is Antonina Pridmore, a mezzo soprano who enjoyed prominence as an opera and 1943!!!

1948 was a year of heavy losses . . .

Fire—Fire wastage one of the heaviest in the history of North America—Estimated $750,000,000.

Automobile—Death and injury on the highways at the highest level recorded.

Accident and Liability—Accidents in the home, at work and on the street continued to mount without let-up.

THE prudence of past years, careful administration, and the consequent reserves built up in better years make it possible for Insurance Companies to meet their full obligations to policyholders and to the public, and continue with increasing value the many and varied services in insurance advice and loss protection. An enlightened public does realize that:—

- It makes its own premium rates. As losses

- and the consequent claims are reduced, the cost of insurance is reduced.
- In its own interest, it must assist Insurance Companies in their continuing efforts to eliminate hazards and so reduce losses.
- Consistent with establishing the financial reserves for your protection:—
- losses, the intense compe—
- business guarantees that premium rates will be kept at the lowest possible level which good management can provide.

Insurance Companies not only collect premiums and pay losses, but work continually to reduce premiums by preventing losses.

- In 1949, help prevent the fires and accidents which cause financial suffering in your community.
- It is in YOUR interest to co-operate.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW—

NO BUDGET BONANZA for Canadians, but mighty welcome to thirsty New Yorkers is the return of five-cent beer. This gentleman indicates his full approval as he quaffs first glass of "mickel suds" in years at a Lower East Side bar in Manhattan.

RED MARCH TO WEST SEEN IF WAR STARTS

BERLIN, March 27.—(UPI)—An western press on the military potential of Russia. He contended that the Russians would march into western Europe in event of war. "If the democratic powers fail in their peace efforts and in their efforts to prevent a new war, the Soviet army will be forced to march into the territory of certain western European countries to pursue the imperialistic aggressors," the writer said.

Singing himself Capt. A. Morrow, the editorial sought to answer speculative articles in the

Hutterite Land Act Challenged

East Cardston Colony Takes Law to District Court

LETHBRIDGE, March 28.—(CP)—Alberta's Communal Property Act, passed by the legislature in 1947 to restrict Hutterites and other groups from expanding communal land holdings, now is having its first court test.

The law was brought before district court here Saturday by the East Cardston Hutterite colony following the rejection of its application for permission to purchase 1,200 acres of farm lands adjoining the colony.

APPLICATION REJECTED

The application was rejected by the provincial director of assessments, who handles Hutterite applications to acquire more land in Alberta.

In appealing from the decision of the director of assessments, the East Cardston Hutterite colony's legal counsel, M. E. Moscovitch, K.C., decided to test the validity of the Communal Property act. He argued in district court that the act was not valid because it conflicted with dominion powers. He said the provincial act was in direct conflict with powers granted the dominion by the British North America act. After hearing arguments from M. Moscovitch and J. Harper Prowse, K.C., the attorney-general's agent, Justice E. B. Parr reserved his judgment.

HOLDS 2,000 ACRES

The East Cardston Hutterite colony has a population of about 75 persons and owns 2,000 acres of land. In an endeavor to increase its holdings, the colony applied for permission to purchase 1,200 acres of adjoining lands which were up for sale.

Before any purchase of additional lands by Hutterites can be negotiated, permission must be secured from the provincial director of assessments and various other conditions must be met as required by

MAN PREFERS DEATH TO HOURS OF AGONY

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 28.—(AP)—Fredrick H. McMenamin never had a harder decision to make in his 79 years.

Moving in his new eighth-floor apartment, he slipped and broke his hip. He toppled in agony near his luggage in which police said he kept a revolver. The telephone had not been connected and neighbors were too busy or too distant to hear him. That was Thursday.

Saturday night a friend, Mrs. Marguerite Pack, found McMenamin's body. Police said there was one bullet wound in the elderly man's head. In his hand was the revolver.

Drumheller Fire Damaged Is $15,000

DRUMHELLER, Alta., March 28.—(CP)—Fire Saturday night destroyed the store of Ray Ayling at nearby Nominie. Loss is estimated at $15,000 from fire of unknown origin.

No Political Neutrality For Labor — Douglas

REGINA, March 28.—(CP)—The Canadian Labor movement cannot be neutral "in the great political fight now being waged in this country," Premier T. C. Douglas said Saturday night.

He spoke to trade unionists, clergy, government and civic leaders at the close of the first day of the three-day Canadian Congress of Labor Union Institute.

"For as long as most of us can remember, labor has exerted something from first and political party and then another," he said.

"And what has it got? Depression, hard housing and high prices."

The Premier praised the CCL leadership and educational institute series of institutes will be held across Canada as "an excellent experiment."

"We must train our own people to go out and beat special privilege," he said. "We must be going to the source and lead us to the promised land."

He urged Chambers of Commerce, Employers' Associations and others who criticize labor union.

"They should know trade unionism isn't formed for fun," he said. "They were formed out of the pain and dire necessity of people who couldn't stand that pain and necessity any longer."
